WILD CAT

-Schemes seem to be the order of the day, with suits somewhat alarming. You may play upon the credulities of a people for a time, but be careful not to exasperate them. The sreedy, grasping, gan-grenes do not wait to consider the effect of their damnable coings—they simply "go it" blindfold, as it were, and when the clouds of their own mak-ing burst find them totally unprepared to cope with -the results.

Liars should have a good memory. Fires some--times occur by design, and some business people-make use of the occurrence in such a way that it -puts money in their purses. Hence they welcome the recurrence of seemingly unfortunate episodes which not manifesting themselves as quickly as spread would have it, they tax the ingenuity of their susually fertile brains, and from out this vest store house of villatious resources conceive and carry into effect other diabolical scheme, more peculcious perhaps than the original accidental discovery of how to WORK the people.

Greed of gain is a linguisting, insidious disease—a

-canber worm, a cancerous sore, ecting its way into the vitals, killing all the finer senses, without lock, -stock or barrel, causing crimes to be committed for which there is no real cause, and the perpetuators only awaken to the henicusness of their offense when the Grim Monster knocks with the awful summons - "This night - thy soul is required of thee." No time for - praying, no time for protestations of personal irresponsibility, no time to laugh, no time to sing, no time to undo that which has been done—the inex--orable summons brooks no delay, adds not a single -breath.
